Out of everything I've shared w/you, what appealed to you the most?

Let me tell you how easy it is to get started. There are two questions women usually ask.

1. First, how much does it cost? The answer is $100 plus tax & shipping and your starter kit includes over $400 worth of product, educational materials, and samples.

2. The second question is how much time does it take? You know that is really going to be up to you based on your goals. You can choose to have this be a pink hobby or you can choose to make it your full-time career, and we will give you a proven road map to follow.

So tell me, is there any reason why you wouldn't want to get started today?
